92nd Street Y Programs

Monday, April 17th at 10:00am

Drew Petersen, piano, plays Chopin, Schumann, Ravel, and more

Avery Fisher Career Grant winner and rising piano star Drew Petersen makes his NYC recital debut. At the heart of his program: piano masterworks by Ravel and Schumann in the stunning, shimmering Gaspard de la nuit and Schumann's love letter in music, the C-Major Fantasie. A selection of Chopin Études is preceded by John Corigliano's Etude Fantasy, a fascinating set of five studies in the form and character of a fantasy, creating an arc from the program's start to finish that reflects the thoughtfulness of Petersen's artistic conception.

Friday, April 21st at 10:00am

Pepe Romero, guitar

Classical guitar legend – and one of the greatest global ambassadors the instrument has known – Pepe Romero returns for a very special 80th birthday celebration concert. Romero has been a beloved and central part of 92NY's guitar concerts since the earliest days of our Art of the Guitar series. He brings the artistry and mastery that have captivated audiences around the world.

Wednesday, April 26th at 10:00am

The New York Philharmonic String Quartet & Sir Andras Schiff, piano

Dvořák, Schumann, and Beethoven in the hands of eminent pianist Sir András Schiff is like hearing the composers themselves at the keyboard. Schiff joins us in Dvořák's songful Piano Quintet, one of the masterpieces of chamber music, with the acclaimed New York Philharmonic String Quartet in this next event in 92NY's rich and ongoing collaboration with New York's orchestra, as well as works by Bach, Schumann, and Beethoven with principals from the Philharmonic's wind and brass sections.
